About Me

Hello there! I'm Muhammad Arslan Sarwar, a passionate professional with a background in software quality assurance engineering and data analysis. With a strong commitment to delivering high-quality solutions and a knack for extracting insights from data, I have worked on several exciting projects across various domains.

Projects

While I've been involved in numerous projects as a Software Quality Assurance Engineer and Data Analyst, unfortunately, due to company policies, I'm unable to disclose specific details or share code publicly on this platform. However, I'd be delighted to discuss these projects in detail during our interview.

What to Expect

During our interview, I'll eagerly showcase my experience and skills gained from these projects, including my proficiency in software testing methodologies, test planning and execution, data analysis techniques, and more. I look forward to discussing how my expertise can contribute to your team and projects.
